Our New Grader

Our new grader was delivered on Wednesday after Town Meeting. Our old grader has gone to Maine to work for a logging outfit. If you have questions or would like to see the new one, contact DPW Director, Jim Morris.

2024 PROPERTY REVALUATION

It's that time again, NH State law (RSA 75:8-a) requires that every town re-value property at least once every five years and Greenfield's last revaluation was in 2019. As many of you know the property market has been red-hot over the last five years and real estate values have risen dramatically. Across the state homes have nearly doubled in value in that time. As of February 2024, the average home value in NH is $445,263. Here in Greenfield the NH Department of Revenue (DRA) estimates that our average valuation was approximately 65% of market value as of last fall. As a result, we expect that revalued homes will nearly double in valuation.

You can expect to see the assessor, Avitar, out verifying information on the tax card to ensure consistency throughout town. Notices will be posted to the town website once we have more detailed information about when this will occur.

Not all properties will increase or decrease by the same amount – there are a lot of factors that go into real estate valuations so your property may change differently than others. For instance, small homes vs large homes may have very different levels of appreciation. Newer homes vs older homes are another area where things can be quite different. Even if all else is the same different neighborhoods, such as downtown versus out in the country, or living on a paved road versus a gravel road, will have an impact. Just as all of those factors impact the selling price should you put your property on the market.

GREENVALE HEIR QUEST

As you may have read in the 2023 Greenfield Town Report, the Cemetery Trustees have entered into an agreement with Chronicle Ltd, a cemetery management software provider, to convert our paper records to a “secure digital database, making it easier to manage and access information”. Once completed, the public will have “access to cemetery services, genealogy searches, plot purchasing, life stories, and even self-guided historic walking tours”. The quoted language is lifted directly from Chronicle’s proposal.

We’ve spent countless hours in the effort to ensure that the information is as accurate as humanly possible before it gets handed over to the folks at Chronicle. Meticulous and painstaking examination of records dating back to 1881, when Greenvale was first put into use, has revealed that now and again mistakes were made in recording lot sales and interments, as well as in the actual laying out of lots. We’re trying very hard to correct, or at least mitigate, those errors to avoid the old garbage-in/garbage-out scenario.

Whenever a cemetery lot is purchased, a deed is created and submitted for approval by the Selectboard members before being issued to the purchaser, and a copy filed with the Town Clerk. Although we refer to these documents as deeds, it would be more accurate to call them ‘Rights of Interment’ (ROI) since the town does not actually cede ownership of the property. This is explained in the recently revised Greenvale Cemetery rules and regulations, which can be viewed/downloaded at www.greenfield-nh.gov.

Every record of cemetery lot purchase includes the words “...we hereby acknowledge, have given, granted, and conveyed to (Name of Purchaser) his, her, their heirs and assigns forever...” Unfortunately, many of the lot purchasers have since died without having identified their “heirs and assigns”. We are trying to remedy that by tracking down the immediate descendants and/or others whom we believe may have knowledge that could lead us to the rightful and current lot owners.

To this end, we have reached out to the Greenfield Historical Society and the Greenfield Covenant Church as two likely sources of valuable information. Yet, we realize that there is probably a trove of information that we may miss by limiting ourselves to those two rich resources.

If you have family or friends whose remains are interred in Greenvale Cemetery, we’d love to speak with you. It only takes a few minutes to jot down the actual missing info, but we love to listen to the stories that inevitably surface when discussing the lives that came before ours and make Greenfield such a wonderful community. You can reach us by calling Roger Lessard at 603-933-3130 or online at cemeterytrustees@greenfield-nh.gov.

We wish to thank outgoing trustee Ray Cilley for his valuable assistance during his three-year term, and welcome newly elected trustee Karen Day to the team, which also benefits from the very talented and insightful participation of Bill Nichols.

RECYCLING CENTER

Hours: Tues 8-4, Thurs 11-6, Sat 8-4

603-547-8617

New Hampshire law mandates that every municipality have a recycling center. This has usually meant a facility owned and operated by the town or city. In 2023 the city of Claremont officials decided to turn over the operation of their recycling center to a privately run entity-DeCamp Waste Services. Since most transfer/recycling centers operate at a loss, this contracting out to DeCamp was bound to bring about changes. Your intrepid reporter decided to find out how it was working out. When I called the Claremont City Hall to get information on how the change was working for the city, I was directed to contact the head of the Highway Dept. I left a message about a month ago and have not heard back. When I contacted DeCamp Waste Services, the gal answering the phone said that I needed to speak to Mr. DeCamp who was unavailable since he was driving one of the garbage trucks due to being short-handed. I advised the gal never to get a CDL or she would be out driving a truck. She replied, "Tell me about it-I've already ridden 'shotgun' and had to toss the trash bags into the truck!" Mr. DeCamp has yet to call me back as well. From the Keene Sentinel article and DeCamp's website, I have been able to obtain the following information.

Apparently, there was considerable anger from the public due to operational changes and increases in the fee schedule. In fact, some residents behaved rudely aggressive towards the staff, some of whom were just teenagers working part time. In response, DeCamp no longer allows residents to bring household trash to the recycling center. Instead, DeCamp will pick it up curbside in bags that must have town stickers on them. The costs of stickers are $3.00/13 gal. bag; $5.00/30 gal. bag and $9.00/50 gal. bag. The bags also have weight limits. This is known as "Pay as you throw."

For demo and furniture, the website directs you to contact DeCamp and they will determine the best disposal method and fee. Just showing up at the transfer station with these items is not allowed. The website has a four-page, fine print, A-Z list of items: fee/no fee and allowed/not allowed. According to the list, a standard pickup with demo (presumably, sheetrock or shingles) would cost about $225.00.

As far as recyclables go, the public has two options; Option 1: putting all the recyclables in one bag (single stream), paying the same per bag fee as trash and dropping the bags off at the transfer station. Option 2: Sorting your recyclables into separate bags and dropping them off no charge. The no charge sorted items only include cardboard/boxboard, aluminum cans and glass. For all plastics and mixed paper, the bag fee would apply.

Here are a few items for price comparison: car tires-(DeCamp) $10.00, add $2.00 with rim; (GRC) $6.00 with/without rim; brush-(DeCamp) $20.00/pickup; (GRC) $0.00; three cushion sofa-(DeCamp) $45.00; (GRC) $15.00. The GRC also does not charge for any of the standard recyclable items. DeCamp also retains the revenue from the sale of these items whereas the Town of Greenfield keeps the money.

Claremont's decision to turn over the recycling center to a private operator is an experiment and it seems likely that it will require some fine tuning. Time will tell.

On another note, Greenfield lost another frequent patron and supporter of the GRC, David Bridgewater. He also served as the Stephenson Library Director. For the size of the town, the library is truly outstanding and has benefitted greatly from his selfless management. David was a woodworker and craftsman by trade. My earliest encounters with him go back to my sawmill days when he would come by to purchase lumber either for a town or a private project. The dais that is used at town meetings was crafted by David using a local maple tree. On hot summer afternoons, after a sweaty day at the mill, I would stop by Sunset Lake for a quick refreshing swim. It would be common to see David there doing the same. The picture shows both the library's (David's) and behind it the GRC's entries into the cardboard and ductape boat race this past summer at Sunset Lake. David launched, paddling furiously and tipping over about eight feet from shore. I remember him laughing during and after the rather short voyage. The empty cardboard "canoe" symbolizes what we lost in David's death. We will all miss him.

It is, as always, for us the living, to carry on and "Keep the stuff coming!"

OAK PARK NEWS

Greetings, Greenfield residents!

We are looking forward to another fun year of events at Oak Park. Of course, opening with the Annual Easter Egg Hunt in conjunction with members of the Fire Department and Fire Fighters Association, Saturday, March 30th.

On May 11th, we are doing our Annual Spring Park Cleanup which comes along with a potluck for anybody who wants to bring something and we provide burgers and hotdogs. With this year's spring cleanup, we will also be beginning the planting of the Oak Park Pollinator Garden, a project we have been coordinating with the Conservation Commission that will add some color and life to the park.

July 4th, we host a barbecue and a number of kids activities, including tie-dye T-shirts to include adults as well. There's secret talk about trying to do a morning parade but we haven't quite figured that one out yet. This year's Farmers Market starts in mid May and will continue every Sunday from 10 AM until one through to September. Always one of our favorites, we will close the year with the Pumpkinfest.

In meetings, we have discussed the possibility of trying to combine a smaller scale event, similar to the blueberry jam-boree, and an evening with music and food, though definitely not to the scale of the Blue-b-Que. Also, in open discussion is the possibility of doing movies during the kid's school vacation under the pavilion.

Our biggest hurdle for adding new activities and events is manpower. Period. While we wholeheartedly understand that most people's schedules don't allow for regular meetings, anybody that is interested in helping bring any of the new events to reality, please feel free to contact me.

Thanks,
Dave Thimmel

THE FIRE CHIEF'S CORNER

At our February department staff meeting, annual service awards were presented for 2023. I enjoy taking time out of our regular agenda to recognize the efforts of these members. These awards are major milestones for our volunteers and are presented in five year increments. This year, Firefighter Rob Wachenfeld and Firefighter Scott Martin were presented with five year service awards. Captain Chaz Babb was presented with a ten year service award.

We then moved on to present our Member of the Year award. Making the choice each year is a difficult decision. Each department member is deserving in many ways. Senior officers work to narrow the field and in the end, there can be only one so we choose the member we find most deserving. This year's award went to Firefighter Scott Martin. We thank him for his efforts and dedication.

It is interesting that both Captain Babb, then Firefighter Babb, and Firefighter Wachenfeld are both previous recipients of this award. Rob has also received the Member of the Year award from the Greenfield Firefighters Association.

On Saturday, March 2nd, seven of our members attended "Role of the Junior Fire Officer" class in Temple. Captain Chaz Babb, Fire Warden Gene Hennessy, and Captain Mike Hoiriis are veteran officers and attended in support of Firefighter/EMR Tom Cove, Firefighter/EMT Mike Heddy, Firefighter Nate Iverson, and Firefighter Sam Tarplin. Their training will help lead the department in years to come.

We had a mild winter and the snow is now gone. This is great for heating bills but not so nice for the wildland fire risk. Texas right now is experiencing that state's largest wildfire ever. At this time, it has burned over 1,900 square miles of land and continues to burn. In March of 2023, we had a wildland fire that burned 12 acres here in Greenfield. Fortunately, we were able to contain it and put it out. No structures were damaged and no one got hurt.

We still have a long time before our wildland fire risk drops. When the snow goes away early there is a long time before the ground and trees green up to help prevent these fires from rapidly spreading. Please be extra careful when emptying the ashes from your wood stove or fireplace, disposing of cigarette butts, or anything else that could potentially start the woods on fire. Thank you.

Below the title, a central basket is filled with various vegetables, including a large orange pumpkin, green leafy vegetables, a bunch of green onions, and several red tomatoes. To the left of the basket is a yellow pot with white flowers, and to the right is a pink pot with green herbs. In the foreground, there are more vegetables: a carrot, a head of broccoli, a whole tomato, a wedge of yellow cheese, a head of lettuce, a corn cob, and a small purple onion. At the bottom, there are sunflowers, a large orange pumpkin, a watermelon, and a bunch of pinkish-red tomatoes. The text 'Open Sundays May 19th-September 1st! 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. Oak Park 971 Forest Rd. DID YOU KNOW?

Why should we place birdhouses around our homes?

Many of our local birds are cavity nesters. Most need an existing hole. There is severe competition among our feathered friends for the limited number of natural and abandoned holes. There are two actions we can take to help with this wildlife housing shortage: 1) place birdhouses around our homes in early spring (it's fun to build your own!); and 2) leave tree snags standing. Most of these visitors are insect eating, an additional benefit of attracting hole nesters into your yard!

Happenings at the Historical Society by Alan Easton

Many of you have congratulated me on my elevated position here at the GHS. Thank you for your support. Becoming President of the GHS is a task that I do not feel worthy of. It seems like some large boots to fill. Mostly by example of Mr. Lenny Cornwell! Lenny has served as our President for 16 years. Thankfully he is remaining on the Board of Directors. Lenny is an invaluable asset to our team and our town history. If you know Lenny you know what I mean. His knowledge of town history is enormous. Furthermore he can recall this information almost as if it were right on the tip of his tongue. Please join me in thanking Lenny for all he has done and continues to do as a member of the GHS Board of Directors! Personally I would not be able to attempt this position if not for Lenny. I continually rely upon his vast knowledge of our Greenfield history.

How many of you have read our Greenfield history book? The Story of a Town 1791-1976 by Doris Hopkins. If you've not read the book we still have some copies available at the society for purchase. A great read about 2 centuries of our existence and founding here in the shadows of Crotched Mountain. As we approached our 50th anniversary of founding the society the GHS Board of Directors began a discussion about the history book. It's been 50 years (almost) since 1976. A lot has happened since then. Almost 50 years of history remains unwritten. And thus, our latest endeavor began. Let's write a book.

Before I go too far into our new book, which many of you have undoubtedly heard about, let's first think about all the technological changes the past 50 years have brought to each of us. Our original book was typed on a typewriter. Research was conducted by reading archived town reports and newspaper articles. Traveling to the Registry of Deeds and making notes in pencil, on a 3x5 index card or scribbled on the back of an old photograph. Lastly by word of mouth. Much of our history was shared by old timers who knew previous generations and they shared stories.

I'm going to guess that some of you folks don't know what a typewriter is or an index card. Much of our research was done on computer (a what?). Now your mobile phone (a what?) has more power and capability than the first personal computers. Imagine a world where people don't share stories or talk with each other because they don't need to, instead they have some social media thing. Profound, when you consider the changes technology has made in our lives. I find this fascinating but I digress...

Technology has allowed GHS to self-publish our latest book. It has allowed us to type at home and conduct research from home. Share ideas, make plans, edits and corrections. But technology has its challenges as well. We had planned to get our new book printed and into your hands for the Christmas season. Technology had another plan. A major system crash! That caused Bruce Dodge (and others) many hours of recreating. We are so thankful to Bruce for all he has done. The book looks amazing and by the time you are reading this many of you will own one of your very own. The GHS Board of Directors hopes to bring you more books like these in the future. For now please enjoy this book, it is our history and it has been a long time in the making. They are available for purchase at the society and any of upcoming events. We are open the last Saturday of each month from 10:00am to 12:00pm (except December).

Embracing technology is what we are really in need of at the society. Personally, one of my goals is to electronically catalog all the documents we have at the society. We are a volunteer board dedicated to preserving Greenfield NH history. We could use some help.

Upcoming event at GHS: May 11th at 11:00am.

A great unveiling...(stay tuned)

Food will be available.

FRIENDS OF THE GREENFIELD COMMUNITY MEETINGHOUSE NEWS

By Jesseca Timmons, Secretary

The FGCM is very happy to report that we grossed almost $16,000 through our partnership with NH Charitable Gaming! After fees were subtracted, we took home almost $15,000 for the Meetinghouse project. Many thanks to District 9 State Senator Denise Ricciardi, who represents Greenfield, who told us about this opportunity and helped us with the application process. We are over the moon...and apparently, we can sign up again, which we will do as soon as possible!

The FGCM is very excited to be sponsoring a town spelling bee on May 4th! Many thanks to Billie-Jean Greene for approaching the FGCM and asking if we would sponsor this exciting event, along with the Stephenson Memorial Library. Doors will open at 9:30 a.m., and the Bee will run from 10:00 am to noon. Please email GreenfieldNHSpellingBee@gmail.com for more information. Children age 7-14 years can register at Stephenson Memorial Library by April 20th. Prizes will be awarded for 1st, 2d and 3rd places. Registration fee is $10, $5 per additional child per family. We will be collecting donations for the Meetinghouse Building Fund.

As the Spirit went to press, we were still waiting to hear back from the CDFA (the Community Development Finance Authority) on the town's grant application. The FGCM had applied for the initial round of this grant back in May and did not qualify in that round. The application process was definitely a stretch for our small group, and Todd Horner, a grantwriter from Southwestern Regional Planning Commission, worked many long days (and nights!) helping us get it done. After many discussions with Todd, Aaron Patt, our Town Administrator, and the Selectboard, we all decided it made more sense for the town to apply for the second round of this very large federal grant (in the form of a forgivable loan) for $1M for Meetinghouse repairs.

Throughout October and November, Aaron Pat, Todd Horner, our FGCM board, Town Treasurer Katherine Heck, and the Selectboard worked long hours completing this application. More than 60 town residents, business owners, and volunteer leaders stepped up to help, writing letters of recommendation and signing Memorandums of Understanding committing to using our Meetinghouse once it is renovated. These letters truly represent our town, from brand-new residents hoping to teach a class or a workshop at the Meetinghouse, to people who remember playing in the basement during Town Meeting 50 years ago. There are too many groups to list—from the ConCom to the Sportsman's Club, and from snowboarding class to yoga—but it was a massive, all-town effort. These letters and MOU's were an absolutely essential part of the application, because they demonstrate that our Meetinghouse is truly our town's only Community Center. Keep your fingers crossed, everyone!

It is a little challenging to find grants that match our project. Because the Meetinghouse is owned by the town, the project is not eligible for the many grants intended for nonprofits that own buildings. Because it is not a strict historic preservation project—the interior represents two centuries of random updates, ranging from Colonial to Victorian to 1970's—we are not eligible for historic preservation grants. Because the sanctuary space is no longer owned by a religious organization, we are not eligible for "sacred space" grants. However, we know there is funding out there, and we know we will find it! Our Meetinghouse is very special—it is the oldest Meetinghouse in New Hampshire used by both church and state—and we know that even way beyond New Hampshire, people care about saving pieces of American history like our Meetinghouse.

For this reason, the FGCM's goal for 2024 is to hire a professional grant writer to find grants that the town would not be eligible for, but that the FGCM, as a 501(c)3, would be eligible for. At the same time, we will continue to partner with the town and help with municipal grant applications any way we can. Please contact the FGCM if you would like to help in any way!

The FGCM is always looking for volunteers to help with events and fundraising.

If you have been looking into your home's market value be aware that the assessed value and the market value are not exactly the same thing. A real estate agent or an online valuation tool has a different set of criteria and incentives and they may not have all of the same information available. While they might be close, they will not be the same and such numbers cannot be used as justification for an adjustment or abatement.

The Department of Revenue will monitor the process to ensure equitable treatment of all Greenfield taxpayers. As part of this process DRA requires the town to be between 95% and 110% of market value and will randomly select properties for a detailed analysis to verify that the revaluation has been done properly and to the standards required.

Once the initial town-wide revaluation is complete a mailing with the preliminary values will go out and, if you spot any problems or have any questions, you can setup an appoint to talk with the assessor.

It is important to note that the percentage increase in your assessment is NOT the same as an expected change in your tax bill. If all of the town, school, and county budgets were unchanged from year to year and if all properties stayed proportionally the same then there would be no change in the ultimate tax amount for a property even if the valuation goes up. But the reality is that those budgets do change and individual properties do not all change at the same rate so there will be some change in the tax due.

In a somewhat simplified version of the rate setting process, once all of the properties in town are revalued, we then take the "amount to be raised by taxation" and divide it into the total value of the town. This then becomes the tax rate. Since values are going to go up quite a lot we expect that the rate will go down. That new rate multiplied by your new valuation is where the tax amount on your tax bill will come from. We do not yet know what those figures will be because all of the parameters that will be plugged into those formulas are changing quite dramatically.

The Selectboard expects that this process will be complete by October 1st so that we can set the tax rate for December's bills. We hope to have the new tax rate in early November.
